

2012 Military Teen Adventure Camps

Thanks to a special partnership between the Department of Defense's Office of Military Community & Family Policy, the Department of Agriculture's National Institute of Food & Agriculture and the nation's Cooperative Extension Service, military youth ages 14-18 can experience adventure camp opportunities this summer in many states. If you've not been there yet, visit <http://go.osu.edu/MilitaryTeenAdventureCamps> to find out more about all these opportunities.

Ohio State University Extension is pleased to join the partnership and offers these 3 camps this summer:

Special Needs Camp – June 22-24, 2012

Military Teen Adventure Camp – July 22-28, 2012

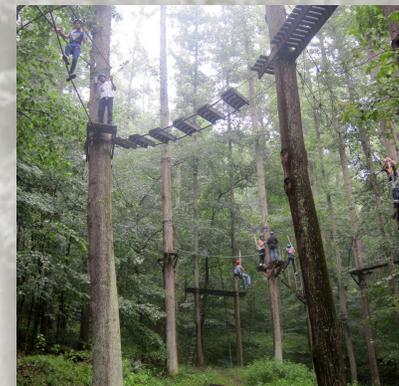

Adventure Excursion Camp – July 7-13, 2012

Each camp is available to military youth on a first-come, first-served basis - all branches, components, and status of the military. The camps are the perfect chance for you to experience the outdoors as you never have before! Each camp offers a unique camping experience that will allow you to build your leadership, self-confidence, and teamwork skills while participating in activities such as canoeing and archery. You will make friends and share experiences with other military youth just like yourself. A camp for youth with special needs (mental, physical, and emotional) is also being offered. Thanks to this special funding, there is just a small $25 registration fee to reserve your place at each camp.

Worried about transportation costs?

Funding is available to help with transportation costs to get you to and from camp. Participants will be responsible for traveling to and from camp, but can be reimbursed for travel expenses up to $350, depending on mode of transportation and distance traveled.
