Ohio Air National Guard unit returns home

COLUMBUS, Ohio – Maj. Gen. Harry W. Feucht Jr., Ohio's assistant adjutant general for Air, will greet 70 Airmen from the Ohio Air National Guard's 123rd Air Combat Squadron (ACS) as they are welcomed home from their deployment in support of Operation Iraqi Freedom.

The public is invited to the unit's 9 a.m. welcome home ceremony Monday, June 1, 2009, at the Raymond Walters College, 9555 Plainfield Road, Blue Ash, Ohio.

The 70 ACS members will be recognized by military leaders, local community leaders, family and friends during the unit's 9 a.m. welcome home ceremony Monday, June 1, 2009, at the Raymond Walters College, 9555 Plainfield Road, Blue Ash, Ohio.

The Airmen deployed and operated a Control Reporting Center, a Deployable Radar and Remote Radio Unit which provides an up-to-date picture to forces on the ground of air assets operating in theater.

"Our Ohio National Guard Airmen are extremely professional and have served their country well," said 123rd ACS Commander Lt. Col. Gene Hughes. "I could not be more proud of them."
