

Pfc. Seth Winhoven

Headquarters and Headquarters Battery, 1st Battalion,
134th Field Artillery Regiment ~ Delaware

Winhoven grew up in Fairfield County and presently lives in Athens County, where he attends college. His reason for joining the Ohio National Guard is a common one. “I want to give back to my community and serve my country, all while being able to pursue higher education.” Just like most other college students, his in-person classes were cancelled and he had to transition to online courses as a result of the COVID-19 pandemic. As a member of Taskforce Redleg, Winhoven was activated to help provide food packaging and distribution support in at the Southeast Ohio Foodbank in Hocking County. Winhoven said his biggest takeaway from this activation is seeing people benefit at the distributions from the time and work that he and his fellow Guard members have put in behind the scenes at the food bank.

Pfc. Seth Winhoven is supporting food packaging and distribution operations at the Southeast Ohio Foodbank in Logan, Ohio during the COVID-19 pandemic.

Ohioans serving Ohioans

Ohio National Guard Soldiers and Airmen are members of your community. They are local students, teachers, law enforcement, retail workers, business owners, your co-workers, family, friends and neighbors. When the Ohio National Guard responds to an emergency or natural disaster, it's Ohioans serving Ohioans right in their own communities. In this series, meet some of the front-line heroes serving during the current COVID-19 relief efforts, as well as a few of our members who've supported past humanitarian missions.
