

Spc. Robert Davis

Company B, 237th Support Battalion ~ Youngstown

Davis, who grew up in Cuyahoga County, joined the National Guard in order to have the chance to further his education and “to be able to serve the families in his community.” During the COVID-19 pandemic, Davis is providing food packaging and distribution support as part of Task Force Workhorse at the Greater Cleveland Food Bank in Cleveland. Davis said the most rewarding part of his mission has been “the opportunity to serve my surrounding communities and the families that are struggling in their time of need,” he said. “I am grateful for the experience and being able to meet the different families that are a part of my own community.”

Ohioans serving Ohioans

Ohio National Guard Soldiers and Airmen are members of your community. They are local students, teachers, law enforcement, retail workers, business owners, your co-workers, family, friends and neighbors. When the Ohio National Guard responds to an emergency or natural disaster, it's Ohioans serving Ohioans right in their own communities. In this series, meet some of the front-line heroes serving during the current COVID-19 relief efforts, as well as a few of our members who've supported past humanitarian missions.
