

UNIT HISTORICAL SKETCH

1485TH TRANSPORTATION COMPANY

COSHOCTON, OHIO

1485TH TRANSPORTATION COMPANY

The 1485th Transportation Company was constituted in the Ohio Army National Guard on April 1, 1998 as Detachment 2, 1485th Transportation Company. The unit received its federal recognition on Aug. 27, 1998 and was stationed in Coshocton, Ohio.

On February 11, 2003 the detachment, along with the parent company stationed in Dover and Detachment 1 stationed in Steubenville, was ordered into federal service for Operation Iraqi Freedom. The company deployed to Iraq in April 2003 and transported critical supplies to Multi-National Corps-Iraq units across the country. The unit set the standard for the execution of tactical transportation convoys, fighting through daily ambushes to safely deliver critical supplies. As part of the 7th Transportation Battalion, the company was awarded the Meritorious Unit Commendation for support to the 13th Corps Support Command.

In 2005, the detachment moved to the new Coshocton Armory near the Coshocton Airport. On Sept. 1, 2007, the detachment was redesignated as the 1485th Transportation Company (-Det. 1). The Dover element was redesignated as Det. 1 and consolidated with the Steubenville element after the armory there was closed.

HERALDIC ITEMS

DISTINCTIVE UNIT INSIGNIA

Description/Blazon: A gold color metal and enamel device 1 inch (2.54 cm) in height consisting of three gold wheels with blue rims conjoined one and two and surmounted at the center by a white disc bearing a scarlet trefoil with pointed lobes.

Symbolism: The wheels stand for Transportation and three are used in reference to the federal, state and community missions of a National Guard organization. The rims of the wheels are blue representing the calm, cool and confident nature of the Transportation Soldiers as they perform their missions. The disc and trefoil are a representation of a seed of the buckeye tree; it stands for Ohio, known as the "Buckeye State." The center is red, representing war, where the Transportation Soldier performs at their best, showing the devotion to get their cargo to the destination at any cost. The disc is white, representing the humility seen in the Transportation Soldiers as they perform their missions when called upon, anywhere, anytime.

Background: The distinctive unit insignia was originally approved on 7 November 1966. It was amended effective 1 September 2007, to update the description and symbolism. It was further amended to revise the symbolism effective 1 September 2007.

COAT OF ARMS

Blazon:

Shield: Celeste, on a bend wavy Argent, a bend Gules (Brick Red) charged with three wheels Or, that in the center surmounted by a plate bearing a trefoil Gules.

Crest: That for the regiments and separate battalions of the Ohio Army National Guard: From a wreath Argent and Celeste, a sheaf of seventeen arrows Argent bound by a sprig of buckeye (aesculus glabra) fructed Proper (two leaves with bursting burr).

Motto: SEMPER PRORSUS (Always Forward)
